

The following is a list of attorneys who have expressed an interest in disability law. These attorneys are in private practice. It will be very important for you to discuss fees with any private attorney you contact. If your case seems strong, some attorneys will agree to accept your case on a contingency basis. That means that the attorney will take your case without you paying the attorney fees. Because your case is strong and the attorney thinks he/she will win, the attorney will expect to be paid by the other party. Remember, discuss fees with any attorney you contact.

This list is provided as a service to persons with disabilities. It is not intended to be construed as an endorsement of any particular attorney listed. For additional information, contact the individual attorney.
